

FHP mammography unit nationally accredited

The American College of Radiology has granted accreditation to the FHP Mammography Unit. The accreditation is valid for three years and is a part of a federally-regulated continuous process and means the FHP unit is up to par with national standards.

By Michele Catahay

The American College of Radiology has granted accreditation to the FHP Mammography Unit. The accreditation is valid for three years and is a part of a federally-regulated continuous process and means the FHP unit is up to par with national standards.